Acknowledgements

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Professor Nobuo Takahasi at University of Tsukuba for his invaluable comments on the draft of this dissertation. I also would like to express my thanks to the following faculty members of the Institute of Geoscience at University of Tsukuba for their kind advice: Professor Isao Saito, Professor Akira Tabayashi, Professor Akira Tezuka, Professor Yuji Murayama, and Dr. Takehiro Morimoto, Dr. Keisuke Matsui, Dr. Hironobu Oda, Dr. Masaaki Kureha. Moreover, appreciation is also given to residents resides in the study areas. Also, I would like to thank Professor Satoshi Suyama at the University of Komazawa who is a husband for his useful suggestions and for his warm encouragement. Without the advice and help from the above persons, this study would not have been possible. Last, but not the least, I feel no expression of thanks can adequately express my gratitude to my family and parents for their warm support and encouragement. In particular thank for two young sons and husband deeply. This thesis is dedicated to them.

Mee Ae JUNG

January 2003